

About the author:

Nate Pinkney is a biomedical engineer and sonography consultant. He teaches medical imaging at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine and routinely lectures on Physics and Instrumentation at the Jefferson Ultrasound and Radiology Education Institute in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. In addition to authoring many publications on medical physics and imaging, he has taught in numerous diagnostic medical sonography programs.